Mayor Signs Park Legislation on Sisley Property

by Katie Wood

The Mayor signed the Roosevelt Park legislation at a ceremonial bill signing on Friday, October 16 at the Mayor’s office downtown. This authorized the Superintendent of the Department of Parks and Recreation to acquire the northwest corner of 14th Avenue NE and NE 65th Street, for open space, park, and recreation purposes. The Mayor signed the legislation saying, “For years the residents of the Roosevelt neighborhood were subject to deteriorating conditions because of the actions of a single landlord. Today is a fresh start.”

Neighbors Celebrate at the General Meeting and Send Thanks

by Ellen Stoecker

At the RNA General Meeting Tuesday, Oct. 27, neighbors celebrated the Mayor signing the legislation that will create a park in the neighborhood. Barbara Warren did a nice review of the reasons she had proposed the park and shared that she had talked to Hugh Sisley and Jon Breiner about it in the past, and to the Seattle Parks Department about funding, and the great interest at previous Bull Moose Festivals. Lo and behold the Mayor and City Attorney and City Council have made it happen. A big “Thank You” to everyone involved in this project.

Seattle Emergency Communications Hub Training

For this indoor, slow motion exercise, we will practice deploying volunteers who come to a hub with a skill to share during a major disaster. Sat., Nov 14, 9:00am-Noon at Verity Credit Union, 11027 Meridian Ave N. Visit the website for more info at seattleemergencyhubs.org. Please RSVP by Nov. 10th so the exercise organizers can create the right number of practice Hub groups. info@seattleemergencyhubs.org Please include your name, email or contact information.
The Roosevelt Land Use Academy (LUA) held its 3rd session on Sat., Oct. 24. This session was specifically about the Transit-Oriented Development (TOD) in Roosevelt: the old QFC property that is currently using to stage construction of the Light Rail. It will most likely be available for redevelopment in 2020. We heard info from Puget Sound Regional Council, Seattle Dept of Transportation, and Sound Transit concerning this process. Then there was a brief discussion by the community members present.

Sara Maxana from Puget Sound Regional Council talked about regional strategies for accommodating the growth that will occur in our region over the next 10 years and the importance of transportation hubs in communities like Roosevelt. She shared examples of things that were built on other TOD sites and the ideas behind urban planning.

Kevin O’Neill from SDOT spoke about SDOT’s role in the Light Rail process and about the “Green Street” concept adopted nearby. This street will be kept as pedestrian-friendly as possible. The Link Light Rail Station itself will have a plaza with benches and public art on either side of NE 66th at 12th to serve as gathering, waiting, or drop off/pick up space. Whatever is built on the TOD site should conform with the “Green Street” guidelines and continue the theme for the rest of the block. There can be some flexibility concerning street parking on NE 66th in that area.

Thatcher Imboden from Sound Transit spoke about Sound Transit’s process and goals for dealing with the TOD property. Sound Transit plans to open the Roosevelt Light Rail Station in 2021, and are hoping the development on the old QFC site will be ready at that time. They are beginning their TOD process now. They will have additional opportunities for community involvement in the next 4 months. Sound Transit, through community feedback, will determine what goals the site’s redevelopment should accomplish. Then they will plan a strategy for achieving those goals.

Community members then presented some ideas, asked questions, and discussed the topic. Steve Lewis from the YMCA gave examples of things that are possible at the site, and spoke to the possibilities of partnerships in redeveloping it to gain more flexibility. Another community member suggested a center that could include senior residence and day care facilities, and a nursery/preschool, and can involve UW and RHS students. Other suggestions were for layered buildings with different floors... continued on page 7...
In Roosevelt, Transit-Oriented Development (TOD) refers to the development of the land adjacent to the light rail station, at the former QFC site. When Sound Transit is done with the space in 2020, they will make the majority of this real estate available for redevelopment by qualified developers. The RNA is gathering input from the community in order to offer Sound Transit an idea of the community’s values, needs, and requests before they begin their process. TOD is important because of its proximity to the transit hub, which will become the gateway to Roosevelt, giving it very high public exposure to both residents and visitors. What do you feel is the best use of the TOD sites in Roosevelt? How can we leverage the light rail station to create a wonderful new place in our neighborhood? Let us know your thoughts. This survey is also available online at www.rooseveltseattle.org.

1. Did you attend or watch the online video of any of the following LUA sessions?

Land Use Information

by Jay Lazerwitz, Chair Land Use Committee

A Design Review meeting with Early Design Guidance (EDG) is scheduled on Monday Dec. 14th @ 6:30pm for a residential development at 802 NE 66th St. for (3) 7-story apartment buildings with a total of 250 units and parking for 105 vehicles to replace (11) single-family dwellings.

There is an “Appeal Hearing Notice” for a proposed project at: 6105 Roosevelt Way NE., comprising a 6-story congregate residence with 128 rooms and 2,000 sq. ft. of ground level retail. No parking proposed. A previous appeal filed by “Concerned Roosevelt Neighbors” was successful, in that the parking impacts were required to be further studied. The current appeal further challenges the parking requirement, and lack of parking provided.

New Urban Village Boundaries Proposed

by Jay Lazerwitz, Chair Land Use Committee

In the Seattle 2035 - Comprehensive Plan for future growth: http://2035.seattle.gov/, the city is proposing to expand the existing Roosevelt residential urban village; the area of expansion is based on areas that are within a 10-minute walk of frequent transit.

Expanding the urban village to the south, so that the North University and Roosevelt areas adjoin, makes good sense. Some property owners east of 15th Ave NE, are resisting changing the boundary to the east, where the expansion comprises mostly single-family properties; the expansion would encompass parts of Ravenna Park as well. The area to the east is within the Ravenna-Bryant neighborhood, whom we are working with on RNA comments.

Go to http://2035.seattle.gov/ and submit your comments by Nov 20th and/or attend an open house. The nearest open house is on Nov 14th, 9am-12pm at North Seattle College, Old Cafeteria, 9600 College Way, presentation starts at 10am.

“U-Loo” Project & Tent City Collective
Two Organizations - Different Solutions to the Same Challenge
by Laura Bernstein

University of Washington students, alumni and Tent City 3 residents are partnering to bring Tent City 3 (TC3) to the UW campus. The Tent City Collective (TCC) believes that hosting TC3 will create “an environment in which creative, sustainable solutions to ending the homelessness crisis can develop”. A recent walking tour featured over 50 attendees, including both District 4 City Council Candidates and Sally Clark, UW’s Director of Regional and Community Relations. Seattle Pacific University representatives spoke of their positive experience as a host campus. Several members of TC3 shared stories that illustrated why their community is a good fit for UW. Tent City Collective is asking Seattleites to sign an online petition (change.org/p/university-district-community-bring-tent-city-3-to-the-university-of-washington). TCC’s plan has garnered strong support from many faculty members and student groups, including the Associated Students of the University of Washington (ASUW). A recent change to city ordinance allows TC3 to be hosted at UW. Tent City 3 moves every 90 days and is currently being hosted by Bryn Mawr United Methodist Church sharewheel.org/tent-city-3.

Please join TCC at an upcoming meeting, Mondays at 6 pm on campus. Follow TCC on facebook.com/tentcitycollective, and twitter.com/uwtcc. To learn more please email tentcitycollective@gmail.com.

Another fantastic project in the U District is trying to bring public bathrooms to the area surrounding the new light rail station. Unfortunately, Sound Transit does not intend to include public restrooms in the Roosevelt or U District stations. “U-Loo”, is a partnership between the University District Conversation on Homelessness (UDCH) and U District Partnership’s Clean & Safe Committee. U-Loo needs many volunteers to assist with community engagement.

RNA Transport Group News
by Peter James, Chair RNAT
Recently I wrote in The Roosie about a “Developer’s Code of Conduct” that we at RNAT have written, to help neighbors who find themselves living close to a development project. Since then the document has been discussed at a monthly general meeting and by the RNA Board and is now ready to be put to work.

It is a starting point for discussions with developers to minimize the discomfort of being close to a project. It focuses mainly on pedestrian access past and around the project, and maintaining parking for residents. It also provides for a quick response by the developer to site vehicles blocking driveways or sidewalks. It has a lot of details and may need to be amended for each site that it is used for.

The document resides on rooseveltseattle.org. If you and your neighbors are gearing up for a development close by, check it out. We at RNAT would be happy to help you with the process of negotiating, but we will require substantial input from your neighbors to trigger RNAT putting energy into it as well!

We recently met with the manager of the new Portage Bay Café to discuss parking. Obviously a business that generates substantial staff and customer parking needs is of concern to us, as it uses up limited parking resources. Our goal is to keep commercial parking out of residential areas as much as possible. We can not force that to happen but by meeting with new (and old) businesses to make sensible suggestions, we hope to reduce the crunch. Soon we hope to have signs up at Portage Bay advising customers where to park. In the meantime, walk over and try their breakfast or lunch. Yum.

Our next RNAT meeting is on Nov. 12th @7-8:30pm. As of writing I am not sure of the location - we move around from restaurant to bar! When I know, I will post it on rooseveltseattle.org. If you are interested in biking, walking, busing, parking or training in our neighborhood, come and check us out.

serving different purposes. Specific requests were made for individual office spaces and a climbing wall. Community members requested that rents be kept low so that small independent businesses being displaced by construction can afford to stay.
